Introducing . . .

Class of 1959 and friends:
may we present Ab Erjona,
who is eager to guide you through the pages of this chronicle. Just tag along and you'll see him popping up here and there, as he presents the faculty, introduces the seniors, witnesses the will, and performs sundry services.

Winchester High School, Winchester, Massachusetts

Preface

After what seems a long time, we have reached the hilltop, and a bit breathless, we look down at the hill—behind us now. For four years we have climbed. Although the path was occasionally stony and obscure, our teachers were always ready to guide us, to point out the best way. Now we feel the confidence of success even as we look up toward the steeper, the more difficult climb ahead. We are a bit apprehensive, perhaps, but, strengthened by our experience at Winchester High School, we face this new challenge with confidence.

Dedication

FRANK J. PROVINZANO

We, the Class of 1959, dedicate this, our Aberjona, to Frank J. Provinzano. Your unfailing friendship, patience and keen sense of humor have won our respect and a place in our hearts forever. Not only your able coaching, but also the ideals of sportsmanship which you exemplify in your own person will become integral parts of our memory of you as a true leader and a fine friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Provinzano

Coach Provinzano, Bobby Haggerty, Joe Bellino

Aberjona Staff

Under the experienced guidance of Dr. Ulin, the seniors of Winchester High School have once again been able to produce their own Aberjona. While a few people were responsible for a major proportion of the work, the book is, in a very real sense, a total class effort. In one way or another one hundred and forty people have made their contributions to its production.

Editor Jackie Keane, assisted by Sue Mallery, Phyllis Rutter, and the Executive Board, supervised the progress of the yearbook. All of them spent countless hours, racing to meet deadlines. Tasks were numerous and varied, ranging from the editing of write-ups to the touchy planning of the dummy. From the busy pens of the editorial staff flowed the biographies, sports and activity write-ups. Especially to be commended for their assiduous work in the literary field are Roxanne Irwin, Jeanne Hebert, Jackie Keane, Elaine Golden, Marcia Smith and Jane Overacker.

The catchy and appropriate cartoons may be traced to the talented fingertips of Joe McCormack, and the original cover may be attributed to Claire Pearce. Marie Nevola, Helen Spezzafero, and Donna Woodcock deserve special acknowledgement for their invaluable assistance as accountants and typists.

Before the job of the persevering ad-seekers was finished, much shoe leather was exhausted. Their chasing was rewarded by a complete success under the direction of Bob Cooper, Sue Mallery, Ginny Bateman, and Phyllis Rutter.

The Home Room Representatives on the subscription staff also rate bouquets. The homeroom agents, under the watchful eye of Mike Nagel, delivered their smooth sales talks and received remuneration in the shape of green paperbacks and cold silver.

All staff members have worked diligently to surpass the efforts of previous years. We hope you will agree with us when we say that we think our energies have proven successful.

Faculty

For their constant encouragement, endless hours of work and patience, we owe to the faculty of Winchester High School a debt of gratitude. They have sought to guide us in the field of learning and to instill in us the thirst for knowledge. From them we have received help in character-building, in such ways as the taking on of responsibility, acquiring self-confidence and pride in a job well done, and, under their guidance, undergoing experiences of leadership.

Perhaps their success with us has been realized if, through the task of learning, we have come to know ourselves better, our dreams, our ambitions, and our ideals. Years later, when leading happy and successful lives, we will look back on our high school days for the reason and will remember our teachers with heartfelt gratitude.

Class History

Perched on our heady graduation pinnacle, we pause to look back over the WHS highway. Far, far in the distance, we can dimly see the road's beginnings—we as novices, enclosed in walls with paint just barely dry. We first recall paddling through "The Lady of the Lake" at Miss Bailey's urging, "now, kids" . . . Mr. Grindle's resignation as principal with Mr. Stevens' impromptu yet most able succession . . . the new auditorium as our bomb shelter . . . the airplane brigades in room 201 . . . the Ivy League look . . . our officers Richard Roberts, Sherrie McNeill, Ann Porcaro, and Ann Smith setting us aright . . . Rosemary's mellifluous voice floating over the intercom . . . participation in Mr. Hayward's last vaudeville show . . . knots of perplexed freshmen tied around the stairways . . . hen parties with rooster invasions . . . the novel outdoor pep rally with an honest-to-goodness horse . . . our own perky cheerleaders spelling out success for the football and basketball teams . . . our first formals complete with Andover imports . . . apprehension over our first approaching midyears . . . the clashing of plaids as the gym initiation parties took place . . . our blackened hands as we ripped paper for the heart-breaking Durfee game . . . finals on the hottest days of June sent us on to bigger and better things.

After a leisurely summer spent camping or sunning at the seashore, we returned to find ourselves lowly sophomores. In retrospect, we remember dining in the cafe to the strains of "dinner music" . . . our class officers Dave Schumacher, John Horn, Carol Bond, and Sue Mallery . . . gaining a new friend in Mr. Niblock . . . Mr. Morse's first vaudeville show and George Yore's do-wacka-do-wacka-do

. . . Doug, our only varsity three-letter man . . . Binky and Betsey spelling it out for Winchester . . . the laterals and lay-ups at the side-splitting student-faculty basketball game . . . the unexpected defeat of Lynn English at the hands of our hockey team . . . Mr. Power's breath-taking concert . . . the fire that made the headlines . . . agonizing twenty minute speeches . . . the skirmishes of Caesar and his opponents, the Helvetians, made palatable by Mr. Skerry's philosophies . . . burning the midnight oil at midyears . . . the cross country team taking honors in the New Englands for the second consecutive year . . . the Tourney . . . that inevitable spring fever . . . another rendezvous with finals, then onward.

Upperclassmen, at last! Voted into office were Richard Roberts, John Horn, Frannie Bosselmann, and Peter Mahoney . . . we'll all always remember the juniors running away with top honors at One Act Play Night . . . the beginnings of a bank account with the fudge robbery . . . Mr. Finigan's joke at the time-consuming AA assemblies . . . snowbound late in March . . . the launching of Sputniks accompanied by threatening career assemblies . . . the arrival of long-anticipated class rings . . . battles over the mantissas and characteristics of Mr. Butters . . . the scholars in National Honor Society, the dramatists in National Thespian Society, and the journalists in Quill and Scroll . . . Rich Roberts at Boys' State and Phil Dreyer winning the Harvard Book Prize . . . the never-to-be-forgotten prom night as we drifted into Shangri-la . . .

Madame Genicot's unceasing amabilitate and Mrs. Travis' endless patience . . . our abundance of talent manifested in Good News and in Arsenic and Old Lace . . . our own editions of the Red and Black . . . stripping the gears of the driver ed cars . . . our clash with Belmont . . . Chris abroad . . . our third stupendous vaudeville show . . . our first taste of the indigestible SATS . . . finals, then we quit the hallowed halls for the summer, eager to return as Seniors.

Sitting in the driver's seat, we found the hills much steeper: a revised and heavier schedule, stepped-up courses, assignments in Hamm and Muzzey, college boards, and the inevitable midyear blues. Ever to be remembered are our officers John Horn, Peter Mahoney, Ann Neville, and Peter Graham . . . Wolfie, our good-natured exchange student from Austria . . . Dave presiding over the dignified AA assemblies . . . bedlam in the cafeteria at 8:10 A.M. . . . our Turkey Day trounce over Woburn and the Victory Dance with Doug and Pete our trophy-winners . . . "good fun" with Mr. Fitts, the incorrigible ham . . . the controversial code and devotionals . . . the authority on Bobby Burns, Dan O'Donnell . . . hula-hooping through Mr. Power's tests . . . Phyllis and Chris, our SQT finalists . . . John Horn representing the student body at the State House . . . hectic hours on WHSR, with Kjell as our engineer . . . our unearned vacation with the breaking of the water main . . . reverting to sandwiches and goodies at the snack bar . . . the new variety of assemblies . . . Tech Tourney, for the fourth time in our high school career . . . Kathy, Carl, and Liz receiving well-deserved awards at One Act Play Night . . . pretty pastels and terrific tuxes at the prom . . . college acceptances . . . seeing some of our friends leave early to enter the business world . . . sighs of relief as we passed in our final finals . . . our own class night and long-awaited graduation.

Having looked back, we see now that our road had its hills and valleys, its twists and turns, but the way was made plain by our inspiring guides. Now we must travel on, but not before saying one last goodbye to our teachers, the underclassmen, and our wonderful school—always to remain a stimulating influence and a cherished memory.

Class Will

BE IT REMEMBERED that we, THE CLASS OF 1959, of Winchester High School, being of questionably sound mind and weak memory, but realizing that the underclassmen will find it extremely difficult to endure school without us, do, in partial compensation, bequeath to them our talents and activities, declaring this to be our last will and testament.

I, Peg Archibald, leave to Diana Kirkwood my sophisticated and motherly roles in the school plays.

To Ed Ehrgott do I, Pete Mahony, leave my "come hither" looks.

We, Dave Tierney and Billy Saurman, leave, ardently hoping that our voices will some day change.

I, Jake Horn, much to the despair of the Junior girls, leave.

I, Steve Rochow, leave a quite confused Mr. Finigan.

I, Bob de Rivera, leave the cross-country course, well worn, to Donny Brown.

To Donaldson Moorhead do I, Francis Xavier Murphy, bequeath my regal name.

I, Bob Cooper, joyfully leave my father's history class.

I, "Weeds" McKinsey, exit in a puff of smoke.

We, Sue Mallery, Phyllis Rutter and Jackie Keane, leave the Aberjona just finished!

To Pollyann Churchill do I, Ann Cumming, leave my pleasant disposition.

I, Kathy Woods, leave my "bottled sunshine" to Mary Jane Anderson.

We, Joe McCormack and Claire Pearce, leave our artistic ability to Steve Cochran and Sue Carter. To Sue Koch do I, Ann Neville, bequeath my ability to watch parades from the back of the crowd.

We, Bev Bonnell and Gary Cooke, leave, without having made any noise during four years of high school.

I, "Big John" Carter, leave the school in an uproar. To Al Bonney do I, Carl Masi, leave my acting ability.

We, Billy Laidlaw, Donny McGee, John Laban and Harry Bosselman, leave our "warden", Miss Nelson, in peace, if not in pieces.

I, Paul Boucher, leave my stock of French postcards to Mr. McCloskey.

I, Sandy Campbell, bequeath my blond tresses to Martha Preston.

We, Donny Lewis and Bruce Bonnell, leave our private drag strip—commonly known as Mystic Valley Parkway—to Richie Cardullo.

We, Sue Black and Maryanne Scarpaci, leave our long fingernails to Witch Hazel and Vampira.

I, Ann Smith, leave my innocent looks to Shirley Bingham.

To Arthur Cabot do I, John Looney, leave an unmanageable stage crew.

I, Roxie Irwin, leave the orchestra without an oboe player.

We, Jackie Gibbons, Tommy Mawn, Bobby Thompson and Jim Caulfield, leave the bridge to Junie Peritano, Billy Lindsey and Bobby McGee.

We, Linda Kibbe, Ann Porcaro, Nancy Byrnes and Liz Fisher, leave our bullwhips to next year's play directors—Gail Porter, Betty Cuff, Ann Abbott and Martha Dyer.

We, Jean Dellovo and Diane Hosey, leave our attraction to out-of-town boys to Bobbie Lee Carroll.

I, Sandy Albertelli, leave my ballet shoes unfilled.

I, Bob Peluso, leave Brigham's door to Joe Capone in hopes that he will guard it as carefully as I have.

I, Alfred E. Newman, sadly leave with the Senior Class that has loved me so.

We, Dodo Chute, Elaine Tonello, Ann Cotrone and Patty Bertolucci, tumble off.

I, John Yore, leave my uniform to a Junior boy who wants to "Be a man; be a Marine."

I, Wolfgang Pluhar, leave for Germany and my Senior year all over again.

We, Carole Poor, Frannie Bosselman, and Steve Powers, leave our skating costumes to Laurence Owen.

We, Ted Wier, Tony Tofuri and Tony DeStefano, leave our well-situated traffic posts to some girl-happy Juniors.

I, Dave Schumacher, leave about 5½ inches of height to Vandy French.

We, Binky Clark and Jane Overacker, leave our many offices to be filled by about five underclassmen.

I, Jimmy Migliaccio, leave the Indian on my jacket to Mr. Battino.

I, Chris King, leave the gym team without a leg to stand on.

I, Doug Thompson, leave the football team in Reuben Innis' capable hands.

I, Ginny Bateman, leave my fiery red hair to Jane Stevens.

To George Bolweg do I, Kjell Enge, leave my earphones.

I, Lissa Marshall, leave to model for Vogue and Harper's Bazaar.

I, Richie Roberts, would like to leave my red convertible to somebody but my father won't let me.

I, Jack Churchill, leave my famous last name to Winston.

To Judy Christerson do I, Sherry McNeill, will my winsome ways with the male animal.

We, Janet Monro and Phil Dreyer, leave a long-term contract to Sylvia Gustavson and Vandy French.

I, Val Russell, leave the corridors echoing with laughter.

I, Assistant Al Thorne, leave McCormack's in the care of Assistant-Assistant Ray Hinxman.

I, Peter Morgan, leave the mustard bowl empty.

To Carol Chute do I, Abby Nichols, leave my little black book.

I, Sandie Mueller, leave my bathing cap to the school trophy case.

To Sue Nanny do we, Babs and Ellie Dyer, leave our "torch songs."

We, the athletes of the Senior Class, leave to Lou Goddu the deepest thanks and appreciation for his time, patience and unfailing attention which he has shown us during our four years of high school.

I, Carlene Johnson, leave my formula for triple somersaults to Alice Dunn.

I, Phil Fox, leave, knowing that Sue will carry on the old Fox tradition.

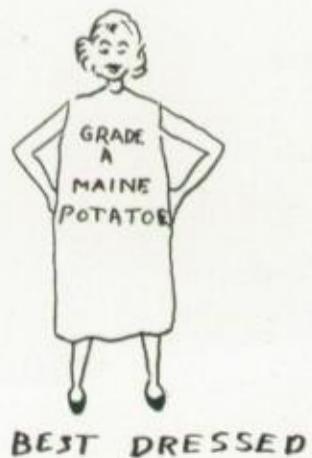

We, Jane Moran and Jackie McLeod, leave our stilts to Nancy Carter and Phil Mead.

I, Betsy Buckley, leave my trim and petite figure to Leslie Sanger.

I, Wally Crotty, leave my fatal attraction for women to Phil Nichols.

We, Jean Cross, Frannie Chaput and Richie Roberts, leave to posterity this example of the solemnity with which our noble class has conducted itself.

Class Prophecy

Dear Class of '59,

Tempus fugit! (How the time flies). Here it is only three weeks until our 25th reunion to be held on the banks of the mighty Aberjona. For those blighted souls who will be unable to attend the gathering of the clan, here is a census report on this, the most famous class ever to roam the hallowed halls of WHS.

Making headlines across the globe is the terrific upheaval in Russia wrought by the new dictator, Marianne Bayley, and resulting in the downfall of Dreyerism. The deposed leader and his cabinet, Paul Boucher, Sandy Clifton, Dave Littleton, and Bill Burrows, are now seeking political asylum in East Monrovia. At a recent summit meeting, diplomats Liz Fisher and Jean Gross signed an agreement with Ambassador Duffy of Wierland to trade Black's Bottle Caps with that country. Senator Clark is now in her second week of filibustering for universal cheerleader suffrage. It is rumored that she has been swayed by lobbyists, Betsy Buckley and Jane Overacker.

Big names in the sports world are Paula Schiraga, Interplanetary Hoola-hooping Champion, Tony "Tiddly Winks" Tofuri, and Bonnie Campbell, Belle of the Badminton Courts. Recent runner-up in the National Open Golf Tournament was Phil Fox hampered by his caddies, Donna Woodcock, Carol McLean, Judy Hanley, and Ann Porcaro. (A little trouble with the woods.) Dark horse Lynn Olmsted took the honors with the mediocre score of 57. (It was a one-hole tournament.) Mike Armstrong, the famous skier who injured both knees, is the only man in the world who goes forward while skiing backward. Great going, "Dr. George" Mulford! Sue Mallery holds the Post-teen Jump-rope Record—246 consecutive hours.

Judges for the event were Joanne Cox, Carol Perriano, Abby Nichols, and Carolyn Kirk. Don McNamee was the attending mortician. Now thirteen feet tall, Dave Schumacher is a member of the last place Celtics. (They were hard up for water boys.) Touring Winchester Center with her Basketball Bloomer Girls, Sue MacDonald, Elaine Golden, Carol Bond, Marcia Scott, Cindy Deans, and Midget Moran, is manager and finance counselor, Marcia Smith. Ann Neville has reached the half-way mark in her long distance swimming marathon —3434½ laps across Wedge Pond. "Mr. Endurance," Peter Graham, is still sitting on the island in the duck pond. Building a colossal establishment for the dispossessed ducks are "Pookie" Cavanagh, Sheila Flaherty, Ann Fentress, and Sandy Eshback.

Kathy Reid, the toast of "Yoretown," is currently appearing in Barbara Brown's sequel to Auntie Mame. (Banned in Boston by Kibbe and Stoffregen's Censor Committee.) Featured on the marquee of Papile's Pizza Palace is the sensational singing waitress, Eleanor McLaughlin. Lynda Baker is starring at the opening of Pat Bertolucci's Tumbledown Hotel, where Elaine Tonello and Dodo Chute work backstage. Other highlights of the evening are songstress Irene Mullen's rendition of Composer Dutoit's latest hit malady, "Hymn to Ophelia," and Richie Roberts' dancing harem, Sara Fish, Gloria Shields, Frannie Chaput, Sandy Eriksen, and Marge Griffin. Tom Derro, Arthur Godfrey talent scout, is credited with shooting these personalities to stardom: Sandra Albertelli, now with the Rockettes, Babs and Ellie Dyer, Charles ("Boyer") Simpson, Judy ("the voice") Murray, and Carl Masi, Number 1 box office attraction in Looney Tunes. After retiring from the Boston Bruins, Dave Tierney has become the Robert Merrill of R. & R. Mingolelli's Opera Company.

In the realm of business, financier Richard Bates sold Manhattan Island to the "Sachem Five," Cross, Crotty, Crockford, Caulfield, and Vespucci. Mayor John Horn of the Big City is still baffled. Talli Kelley is a Turkish taffy tester for the firm of Chaffe and Colclough. Peter Morgan made a fortune with his formula for unmeltable plastic seat covers, processed by Goodwin Incorporated. Flooding the black market are Tisdale's Ten Thousand Uses for Tiny Toothpicks and Donovan's Daffy Doodles for Droopy Druggists. Bruce and Bev Bonnell have revolutionized the automotive industry with their newest product—a car that uses no gas. Inventor Tom Sartini claims he originated the unique contraption—with the help of micro-dot copies of Don Lewis' designs. European tycoon, Wolfgang Pluhar, has agreed to back Sandie Mueller, Sherrie McNeill, and Janet Wehmann in installing gold-plated parking meters at Happy Valley. Due to the publicity given by Powers' Models, Charlotte Siders, Frannie Bosselman, Carol Poor, Judy Ghirardini, Cindy Hart, and Donna Violante, Sue Scott's "Galopin' Galoshes" have become a household word. Johnson, Janson, and Jope are manufacturing no-stick band-aids for stuck-up people. Valerie Russell, owner of WHSR, promoted Kjell Enge to chief turner of the tables. Well-known commentators, Tom Brennan, John Curtis, Ronald Gravallese, Robert Thompson, and Jack Coakley are stewing because they have once more been scooped by the gal with the inside story—Lois Chamberland. It is rumored that thrice-divorced Jill McIntyre is suing Ellen Craven, Dotty Chapman, and Sandy Dantona for home-wrecking.

Among the palettes and the paint brushes we find Joe McCormack, renowned successor to Al Capp, and famous art critics, Claire Pearce, William Bond, Aprille Godwin, John Miller, and Diana Wholley. "Rocks"anne Irwin's scenic panoramas on polished pebbles took first prize in the Woodruff Institute's search for original paint daubers.

Richard Conte is recuperating at J. P. Mahoney's rest home for over-winked eyelids. Hank Kiley was fired as a Marlboro Man when Fred Leong discovered his tattoo was fake. After failing Mr. Finigan's physics course for the 13th time, Doug Thomson and John Carter have despaired of ever computing the density of alcohol. Nuclear physicist, Chris King, working at the Rochow Institute for Underprivileged Scientists has just corroborated Nagel's theory of physicizing nuclei.

Hot off the presses is "Jake" Keane's latest edition of Esquire Magazine, featuring "The Bodies," Harold Bosselman, John Laban, Don McGee, "Slate" Martin, and Dan Serieka. Peggy Archibald won the Pulitzer Prize for her bestseller, How To Play The Oboe Under Semi-Hypnosis. Being furtively passed around study halls across the country is Tim Reynold's new publication, For Girls Only. Pounding the typewriter keys and editing the copy are Helen Spezzafero, Marie Nevola, Jeanne Herbert, Pauline Puma, and Jean Rae. Reporters Joyce Reardon, Lynn Ambrose, and John Yore are covering the peashooters' war in the teachers' lounge for the Saurman Sun.

The most talked about series of the decade are the McKinsey reports on the sex life of porcupines. Free autographed copies may be obtained by presenting yourself at the reunion on Saturday, June 8, 1984, between 8:14 A.M. and 2:29 P.M. (Shades of those Golden Rule Days). Be sure to get yours. This will be an occasion we know you'll never forget!! Hope to see you there!

Sincerely,
Lissa Marshall

One Act Play Night

After many long hours of preparation by the casts, directors, and assistants, One-Act Play Night at Winchester High School was definitely a successful evening.

The sophomore class, putting on a melodrama, "He Done Her Wrong," or "Wedded But No Wife," won top honors. Ann Porcaro and Betty Cuff directed this portrayal of a beautiful heroine, a black-hearted villain, and, of course, the dashing hero.

The All Star Cast consisted of two seniors, Kathy Reid and Carl Masi; junior, Diana Kirkwood; and sophomore, Al Bonney. The best directorship and assistant directorship went to Liz Fisher and Martha Dyer, respectively.

Special thanks must be given to the co-ordinators of One-Act Play Night and especially the advisors Mr. Morse, Mr. McLaughlin, Miss Tricket, and Miss Merrill.

Student Council

Under the leadership of Phil Dreyer, our capable president, and with the valuable guidance of Mr. Meredith Cooper and Miss Ruth White, the Student Council began, once again, a very successful year. The sale of book covers on the first and second days of school added considerably to the treasury. The election of class officers and of the WHS representative for Student Government Day were both under the direction of the Council. John Horn was chosen by the student body to represent WHS at the State House.

The Student Council was also active in putting on the first night football rally, which took place before the Melrose game. It was very well-organized, and proved quite successful.

Several members of the Council attended the Eastern Massachusetts Division of Student Councils convention. Here they were able to discuss with other representatives different ways in which a Student Council could become active in their respective schools.

Other officers for this year included: Vice-President, Shirley Bingham; Secretary, Janet Monro; and Treasurer, Paul DelRossi.

Successful drives were the by-word of the Junior Red Cross this year. During October over one hundred and twenty dollars was collected for the annual membership drive. The Christmas Card Drive for Bedford Hospital, which was practically doomed to failure because of time, turned out to be a huge success. Homeroom representatives amassed almost four thousand cards within a week.

This year the Junior Red Cross was guided by President Al Thorne; Vice-President, Binky Clark; Secretary, Jane Overacker; Treasurer, Roger DeMinico; and Publicity Chairman, Sue Macdonald, with the helpful advice and assistance of Miss Helen Bronson. They and a Board of Directors, Marcia Eaton, Bonnie Campbell, Gayle Porter, and Sue Nanry, with the enthusiastic aid of the homeroom representatives, worked hard to make this a profitable year for the Red Cross.

Red and Black

The addition of an extra issue, bringing the yearly total to ten, highlighted the Red and Black's twenty-first year of publication, a year which brought many notable improvements. These advancements included a special six page Christmas issue, more numerous and better photographs, larger and neater advertisements, greater variety in makeup and headlines, and different methods of covering the news efficiently.

The advisors, Mr. Fitts and Miss Skornik, proved to be of invaluable help to the hard-working senior staff, which was under the leadership of Editor-in-chief Jean Gross. In January, the publication of the paper was turned over to the eager Juniors who published the remaining issues.

Writing, copyreading, headlining, making up the paper, and proofreading have become routine to the staffs, but everyone who has served on the Red and Black agrees that the time and effort were more than worthwhile.

Membership in the National Honor Society is the highest honor Winchester High School can bestow. Scholarship, leadership, character, and service are the attributes necessary to qualify. Final selections are made through the combined vote of the faculty and student body. Five percent of the Junior class and fifteen percent of the Senior class is inducted in an impressive ceremony in May. Miss Bronson and Mr. Fitts are the advisors of this group whose officers this year were: Phil Fox, President; Mike Nagel, Vice-President; Jackie Keane, Secretary-Treasurer.

National Honor Society

Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll, an international honorary society, was added to the curriculum at WHS in 1949. It is open to aspiring high school journalists who have attained a position in the upper third of their class in general scholastic standing, and who have exhibited outstanding accomplishment and talent in a specific phase of journalism. Through annual contests and constructive criticism, Quill and Scroll aids high schools in the organization and publication of their newspapers or magazines.

National Thespian Society

The National Thespian Society is a nationwide organization formed to further active participation in the various fields of dramatic arts. Winchester's Troupe 729, established nine years ago, is under the skillful direction of our advisor, Mr. Morse. After completing successfully one hundred hours of service in any of the fields—acting, staging, or production—a student may qualify for the honor of Thespian. Further recognition is given by awarding an honor star to those who complete an additional hundred hours of participation. The annual induction of new members is held in the spring. Winchester's Thespians invariably constitute the nucleus for the various activities of Curtain and Cue.

The first project of Curtain and Cue was the annual One Act Play Night, with awards being evenly divided—the Sophomores winning top honors with "Wedded But No Wife," and the all star cast consisting of two seniors, Kathy Reid and Carl Masi, a junior, Diana Kirkwood, and a sophomore, Alfred Bonney. Liz Fisher and Martha Dyer, directors of the senior play, won the best director awards.

"Christmas at W.H.S." was Curtain and Cue's second presentation, incorporating the efforts of the Orchestra, Glee Clubs, and Curtain and Cue, which produced "The Stranger," directed by our faculty advisor Mr. John McLaughlin.

The Curtain and Cue also sent a play to the Drama Festival in hopes of equalling the success of our 1957 production. This active year was ended with the annual Spring Apprentice Play.

The Club was under the leadership of President, George Yore; Vice-President, Jane Overacker; Secretary, Valerie Russell; Treasurer, Gardner Gray; Sue Black chairman of the Make-up Committee; Phil Dreyer, Martha Dyer, and George Neville on the executive board.

To attend a boys' school is the cherished dream of many a girl, but rarely in life is such an opportunity given. John Dighton in the Happiest Days of Your Life has gone even a step further and made Hilary Hall co-educational by the addition of the entire St. Swithins School for Girls. The shortage of school buildings in war torn England necessitated the combination of two schools, but the pompous Mr. Godfrey Pond (George Yore), headmaster of Hilary Hall, and the formidable Miss Evelyn Whitchurch (Diana Kirkwood), principal of St. Swithins School for Girls were horrified at the setup. Naturally the pupils could not be expected to take such a dim view of the situation. Two of the pupils were by name Hopcroft Mi (James McKindsey) and Barbara Calhoun (Shelley Patterson). In fact, Dick Tassell (Bob Cooper), the assistant master, was thankful for the presence of the girls' school and especially for Joyce Harper (Betty Cuff), assistant mistress. Rainbow (John Harrison), the school porter and groundsman, was more upset by the beetles in the basement than the girls on the campus.

The cynical Rupert Billings (Philip Dreyer), assistant senior master, and hearty Miss Gossage (Nancy Stone), assistant senior mistress, take the developments in stride, Billings with distaste and Miss Gossage with enthusiasm. The situation moves along comparatively smoothly until two sets of unexpected parents arrive on the scene, unaware of the co-educational status of the school. They are the Reverend Edward Peck (Paul Francis) and his wife (Peg Archibald), and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Souter (Carl Masi and Marilyn Hall).

Special thanks are due Miss Trickett who, as always, directed the cast in a most knowledgeable and helpful manner.

Traffic Squad

This year's traffic squad, very ably led by Sheriff John Curtis, had an extra difficult task ahead of them with the added number of students, the shortened length of time allowed for passing between classes, and the perpetual problem of frustrated freshmen. However, after the passing time was lengthened and a few other minor problems ironed out by Marshall Stevens and his deputies, traffic again began to move easily.

Another duty of W. H. S.'s answer to "26 Men" was the job of regulating the cafeteria traffic, a thankless job requiring diplomacy, tact, and sternness. Obviously the squad did a fine job as the number of "cutting in line" complaints was greatly reduced.

Proof of the fine performance turned in by all officers is the fact that there were no traffic fatalities on the highways and by-ways of W. H. S.

Science Club

In an age of "Sputniks" and moon rockets, the Science Club takes a very active part in the lives of many of its members. Thus far this year, we have taken trips to the Museum of Science and Tracer Lab. At other meetings there have been lectures and movies, such as the Bell Telephone's presentation "Cosmic Rays." The club, which meets every three weeks, has the objective of stimulating interest in the vast area of science. Also, it encourages participation in the Science Fair and encourages those qualified to apply for scholarships in the field of science.

The officers for this year are: President, Phil Dreyer; Vice-President, Chris King; Secretary, James Bradley; Treasurer, James Haggerty; and Executive Board, Steve Rochow, Russ Taylor, Dennis Baker. The club is under the able supervision of Mrs. Travis, head of the Science Department.

Math Club

In this new age of rockets and satellites, the Math Club finds itself in an important position as an extra curricular club. Plans for the year include possible membership in the national Mu Alpha Theta mathematics club, preparation for the annual Newton math contests, and having speakers from various mathematical fields and professions. The executive officers in the club are Michael Nagel, president; Peter Mahony, vice president; and Beverly Bonnell, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Waite serves as the club's faculty advisor.

Philosophy Club

The Philosophy Club had a successful year under the able leadership of Mr. Skerry and its officers: Sue McDonald, President; Pollyann Churchill, Vice-President; Sue Mallery, Secretary; and Sue Fox, Assistant Secretary.

To start off the year, slides by Mrs. Hersey were shown of the Senior Scouts' trip to Europe. At the following meeting, Marcia Bassford talked about her experiences in Japan. A social worker also came and spoke to the group. Many other interesting meetings planned by Jackie Keane, George Yore, Bob Cooper, Bill Cass, Carl Gustin, Jean Lamphier, and Peg Archibald, were held throughout the year.

WHSR-FM

"Good afternoon, this is WHSR-FM, at 91.9 megacycles on your F. M. Band." This was the first announcement heard by radio listeners as Winchester High School's own radio station went on the air. Radio Station WHSR-FM is a fully equipped broadcasting station, and operates at a designated frequency of ten watts.

This year found many changes and new shows on the air. W.H.S.R.-F.M. began every day with a morning show from 7:30 until 8:00. On Wednesday afternoon two hours of classical and semi-classical music were presented from 3:00 to 5:00. Every Friday W.H.S.R. broadcasted from 3:00 to 7:30 with a large variety in programs to suit everyone. In addition all home football and basketball games were broadcasted.

Under the guidance of Mr. Morse the staff consisted of two station managers, Jean Gross and Danny Vespucci, and Chief Engineer, Kjell Enge. In addition there were several other students holding various positions on the radio staff.

Devotional Committee

At the first solemn notes of organ music, notebooks and homework are laid aside, and the students of Winchester High School unite in a few moments of reverence. Under the understanding guidance of Miss Milliken and Mr. McLaughlin, the Devotional Committee has endeavored to present a simple, but meaningful daily program. Of special significance is the thought for the day—a brief message with an inspiration for daily living. Presenting the Devotional Exercises over the public address system is a truly worthwhile innovation, one that gives a deeper meaning to our high school days.

Band

Directed by Mr. Wendell S. Withington the Winchester High School Band got its first chance of the year to display its competence at the football games. The hula-hoop craze even spread to the band as they accompanied the tumblettes in a double hoop formation. The winter season brought with it lots of hard work in anticipation of an exchange concert trip with Laconia High School in March. In early April their band traveled to Winchester and we had a return joint concert. This is a new venture and proved to be successful as well as interesting. We planned for and participated in the annual Northeastern Music Festival on May 2 at Belmont.

Orchestra

The Orchestra has concluded a tuneful, successful year with several opportunities to display its talents. In December, the Orchestra combined with the other musical groups to present "Christmas At WHS". For the second time, a joint concert with the Lexington High School Orchestra was given in February. Later in the spring, the Orchestra competed in the Northeastern Music Festival and performed in the Spring Concert.

This year, several members of our Orchestra played in the Regional Orchestra, and of those, Roxann Irwin, Jean Wilson, and Paul Johnian were chosen to play in the All-State Orchestra.

Girls' Glee Club

Under the very able direction of Mr. Wendell S. Withington, the forty-five members of the Girls' Glee Club met on Tuesdays and Fridays throughout the year to practice music varying from popular show-tunes to less familiar and more challenging numbers. The hard work of these girls was rewarded by excellent performances at "Christmas Night at W.H.S.", and at the State Music Festival which took place this Spring. The Glee Club was helped considerably by the fine accompaniment of Chris King.

Octette

This year, the Octette plus three could be heard practicing their various numbers during Thursday Activity Periods under the direction of Mr. Withington. The girls gave fine performances this year for the Rotary Club, The Home for the Aged, Christmas Night at W. H. S., and the State Music Festival.

Mixed Glee Club

The Mixed Glee has had success again this year under the outstanding direction of Mr. Wendell S. Withington. Every year the Mixed Glee Club has new additions of basses and tenors and, with the numerous boys participating in this year's program, the singing has been exceptionally good.

The group started off well, performing in "Christmas Night at W.H.S." In addition to several hymns and carols, they presented a well known piece, "The Night Before Christmas."

Although Mr. Withington offers a large variety of music, there will be a stress on more difficult pieces, such as religious music, as he has found this type has been well received in other schools.

Besides Mr. Withington, special recognition should be given to Sharon Nyere, who certainly has served as a wonderful pianist.

Thrift Association

Banking at WHS has experienced many changes this past year. Now on Thursday mornings instead of Tuesday as formerly, banking envelopes are collected in each homeroom by representatives. Then they are sent to headquarters, which have been changed from Room 112 to the Main Office. There Phil Dreyer, Donna Woodcock, and Ronald Chabot, under the watchful eye of Roberta Linnell, collect the banking envelopes and send them to the Winchester Savings Bank. This new banking system operates smoothly and successfully, rendering banking a less time-consuming and more efficient project.

Athletic Association

The Athletic Association's main duty is to keep the sports program running smoothly. By means of rallies, dances, and award assemblies, the AA tries to keep up the spirit and enthusiasm. Since there was a lack of time this year for award assemblies, the AA was forced to shorten them, but as an added attraction brought in, as a speaker, Bob Meehan from Tufts. Both the Fall Sports Dance with Larry Lane's Band and the Mid-Winter Dance were very successful. Mr. Burns was our faculty supervisor. Dave Schumacher as President, and John Horn as Vice-President, did a fine job and showed capable leadership.

The AA would like to thank the entire student body for their fine spirit and good sportsmanship. The seniors on the AA board sincerely hope that when we look back at the "Sachems" from college they will keep their winning ways and their unconquerable spirit.

Girls' Intramural Council

Membership in the G.I.C., an organization for non-athletes as well as athletes, is automatically open to every girl in the school. The association encourages service, leadership, spirit, and sportsmanship in addition to providing activities for the benefit of all.

The annual undertakings were again executed: a dance in the spring, an auction in the spring, and also the eighth grade coke party, presented for the purpose of acquainting entering freshmen with the G.I.C. and other organizations of the school.

Miss Barnes, faculty advisor; Ann Neville, president; Betsy Schaefer, vice-president; Sally Clark, secretary; Sue Macdonald, treasurer; and the class representatives planned the events which helped to make this one of the most successful years of the G.I.C.

Field Hockey

Although only three remained of last year's undefeated varsity squad, this year's field hockey team, came up with another winning season. If experience was lacking in key positions, the tremendous spirit and enthusiasm in the team's play certainly made up for it.

The clever stick-handling of forwards Connie Marshall, Donna Violante, Marcia Scott, Sherrie McNeil, Elaine Golden, and Sue Scott; the amazing defense work of halfbacks Sue Fisher, Sue MacDonald, and Captain Marcia Smith along with that of fullbacks Carol Bond and Joan Denton; and the fine goaltending of Carol Parker all helped achieve success. Much credit must also go to the team's excellent coach, Miss Eleanor Keady, an All-American left-inner in her own right. Her enthusiasm and teaching backboned both varsity and JV squads and aroused each to victory. The JV squad, incidentally, also compiled a winning record; and, under the leadership of Sue Fisher, next year's captain, should continue its success as the varsity of '60.

Cheerleaders

"Hey, hey, what do you say? We're right behind you all the way!" That's the cheerleaders' familiar yell heard from the football field or the basketball court from the first day of school in September to the Tech Tourney in March.

Besides cheering for the football and basketball games, the girls, co-captained by Betsey Buckley and Binky Clark, were kept busy practicing for countless hours and cheering at rallies. Something new was added for the basketball season—red bermuda shorts and white long-sleeved blouses worn under black vests.

It has been said that WHS's secret to success is its teamwork. The teamwork meant is the winning combination of players, fans, and cheerleaders. In many a game the cheerleaders' and fans' yells have given the team just that extra ounce of fight needed to win. Receiving silver megaphones, the secret huddles before the games, the final banquet, and even rainy games and muddy fields will remain among the cheerleaders' most cherished memories.

Varsity Club

The Varsity club is composed of all male athletes who have won a letter in any sport and is under the direction of our able coach, Henry Knowlton.

Each year the club tries to present some type of show, such as Donkey Basketball, student-faculty basketball, or a dance to help defray the expenses of the Athletic Association and pay for the football movies taken each year. The most important function of this club, however, is to encourage good sportsmanship at all times.

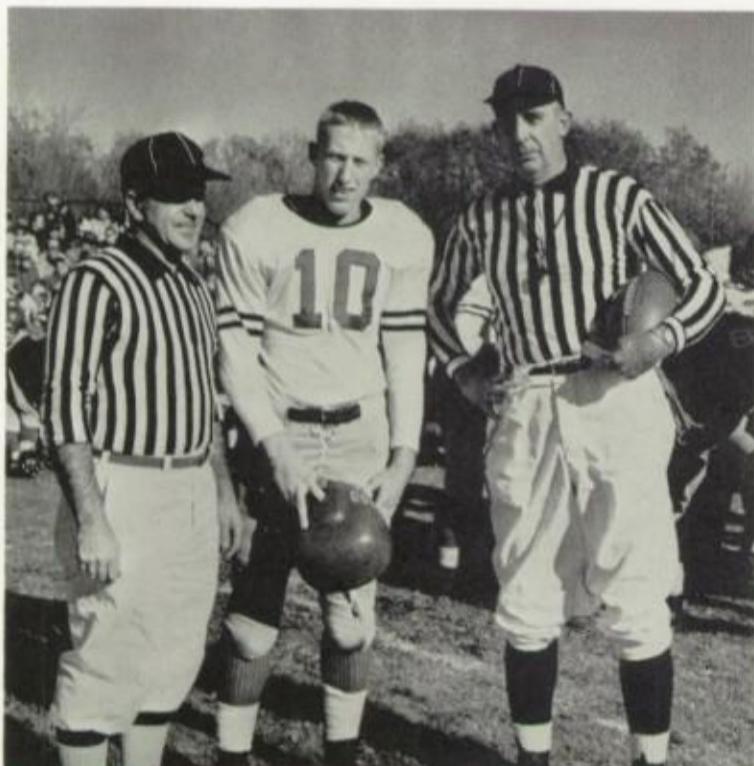

This year the club is led by Doug Thomson, President; Dana Kelly, Vice-President; Richie Roberts, Secretary; and John Horn, Treasurer.

Football Team

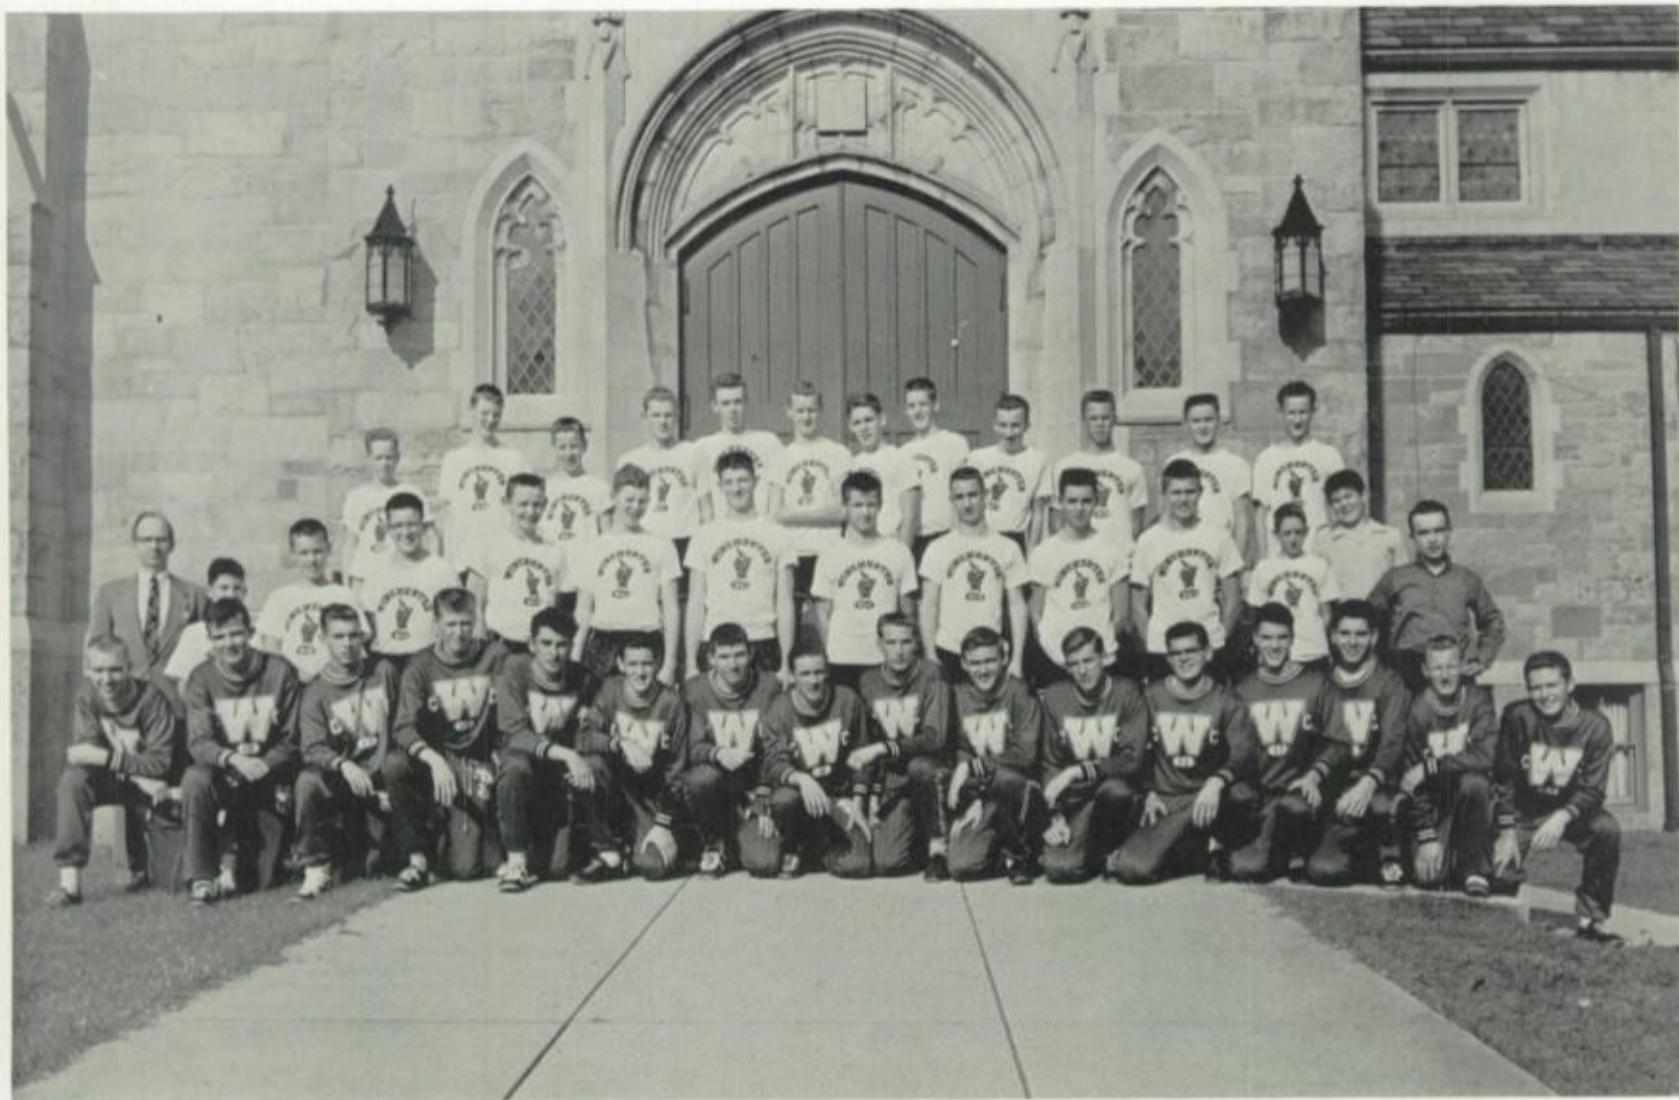

This year's football team was no exception to the fine standard which has been set up by past Winchester teams.

The Sachems began the season with a 22-6 victory over Concord and went on to win six in a row, downing Stoneham 28-0, Cambridge High and Latin 26-8, Lexington 22-8, Reading 14-12 and Belmont 38-6. A 6-6 tie with Wakefield was followed by a 20-14 loss to Melrose. Then came the big Turkey Day game with Woburn. Although the experts regarded the game as a toss-up, the boys from WHS proved beyond any doubt they were tops as they smothered the Tanners 44-6.

Our champs were very ably captained by Doug Thomson, who was also the teams high scorer with 64 points. Dan Serieka was second in the scoring column with 54 points, followed by Jim Migliaccio and Joe Capone with 28 and 22 points respectively.

Credit should be given where it is due and credit is definitely due to Coach Knowlton, his fine staff of coaches, and of course, to trainer, Lou Goddu, without whom this fine season would not have been possible.

Cross Country

The well-known WHS cross-country team went through another season of victories this year. They lost only one dual meet to the championship Salem team; then finished off the season by winning the State Class C Title. The well-chosen captains, Bill Saurman and Bob deRivera, were effectively backed by Steve Powers, Don Brown, Phil Nichols, Bruce Bonnell, Don Lewis, Whitey Allen, Roger Mitchell, Dave Bates, Roy Shay, Phil Fox, and Mike Nagel. And, of course, they were coached by the man who has produced so many winning teams, Mr. Morse.

The JV's, captained by Phil Mead, experienced another undefeated season. They retained their titles of Pilgrim Division Champs and Middlesex League Champs.

Girls' Basketball

Led by their captain, Sherrie McNeill, and mascot, "Nausea," the Sachemettes had a good season, finishing with a record of five wins and two losses. This was an exciting season for the team, as most of the games were won or lost by a close margin. Winchester suffered defeat at the hands of Concord and Melrose, and beat Arlington and Somerville by a narrow lead. The Belmont and Lexington games, both close ones, were victories for W. H. S.

Sherrie McNeill led the scoring for the forwards with ninety points for the season, and Paula Collins came close behind with a total of eighty points. For the guards, Sue Mucera had twenty-seven rebounds and thirteen interceptions. The J.V. team, also having five wins and two losses, had as their strong forward Barbara Stewart, with fifty-three points. Among the guards, Julie Palmer led with forty-five interceptions and eighteen rebounds.

The Varsity should be a strong one next year, having five returning members: Paula Collins, Joy Mitchell, Alice Dunn, Sue Fisher and Sue Mucera. Managers this year were Marcia Scott, Sue Scott, Vicki Soucek, and Janet Keppler.

Cheerleaders

Swish! With a graceful glide, the hockey cheerleaders swing into a wide spread V for victory. In their perky red uniforms the girls provide that extra spark of enthusiasm needed to keep the "win" in Winchester. It is a tribute to the girls' fine performance and Winchester High School's initiative that many other league schools have added hockey cheerleaders to their winter sports programs.

Another Sachem hockey team had a successful season, finishing in second place in the Northeast Division of the North Shore League. The team was ably captained by Steve Powers and coached by Mr. Frank Finigan. The club, after winning its first two games, lost three in a row, but was then able to bounce back and win six of its last eight. The high spot of this winning streak was a 4-2 victory over arch rival Woburn, to cap second place in the division. By a single point the team missed the State Tourney for the first time in five years. Goalie Dave Tierney, one of only two Seniors on the team, did a fine job in protecting Winchester nets. The Juniors, led by league leading scorer Bill LaMarche, gained much needed experience while playing alongside the Seniors. The cheerleaders, co-captained by Carole Poor and Frannie Bosselman, added much color and gave welcome encouragement to the squad. With almost the entire team returning next season, good teams will continue to represent Winchester High School. Bill LaMarche will lead the Sachems next year as they move into the newly formed Middlesex League. The boys will be looking to qualify again for the State Tourney and then win the crown for Winchester.

Boys' Basketball

The 1959 Winchester High School basketball team had another good season, finishing with a nineteen and two record. Under the able coaching of Jim Phillips and under the leadership of co-captains Richie Roberts and Dave Schumacher, the team won the Middlesex League championship. The other members of the starting veteran team consisted of Vandy French, Doug Thomson, and the only non-veteran member, 6' 4" Paul White. The Varsity had a good supporting bench behind it, especially in the Senior subs Hank Kiley and Phil Fox and the five starting Jayvees.

The first highlights of the season took place when Winchester squeaked by Brookline's Class A Team 53-50. The Belmont team defeated the Sachems in the first game by 42-40, lessening the hopes of winning the league. However, a strong determined Winchester team beat Belmont in the second game, 48-44. Thus the Middlesex crown did not end in a possible co-championship between Winchester and Belmont.

Getting a first round bye in the Class B Tech Tourney, the team drew Charleston for its first game. Charleston's hustling team defeated the Winchester Sachems 62-59. The Sachems showed good sportsmanship, fought right to the very end, but had to bow to the eventual tournament winners.

Boys' Tennis

Led by their fine coach, Mr. McGhee, Winchester's Tennis team this year is looking forward to another season of good competition with hopes of bettering last year's record. Captained by Phil Dreyer, the team will have returning lettermen Bill MacNeill, Parker Gray, Dave Shean, and Paul White forming its nucleus with expected help from some fine Sophomore and Freshmen players.

For the first time, a fall tournament was held to help determine the starting lineup for the spring, since the weather permits little time for practice before the season begins. This year's schedule includes such traditional rivals as Newton, Brookline, Lexington, Belmont Hill, Groton, and Andover with perhaps some added matches with Belmont and other Middlesex League schools. With such stiff competition, the team has a good chance of doing well in the state tournament, which is the climax of the season, and is eager to uphold Winchester's fine tennis reputation.

S. McNeil, B. Campbell, M. Scott, S. Koch, J. Denton.

Girls' Tennis

With the departure of winter and the coming of spring, the skis and boots move to the back of the closet, and the dusty tennis racquet again comes into use. This year, the girls will be practicing down at the Packer courts as soon as possible in order to get an early jump on the season. The girls have a tough record to live up to, since last year's "invincibles" had a most successful season, losing only one set. Needless to say, they went undefeated!

Captaining the 1959 squad is Marcia Scott, a two year veteran. Two other returning letter winners are Sherrie McNeill and Bonnie Campbell, who have played with the varsity since their sophomore year. Several underclassmen show considerable promise. As usual the team is looking forward to a successful season and has high hopes of romping over its private school non-league rivals and its league opponents: Melrose, Belmont, Concord, Arlington, Lexington, Woburn, and Malden. Once again the girls' tennis team is contributing to the maintenance of Winchester's reputation as a tennis playing town.

Baseball

And again it is spring when a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of baseball! This will be the case among sixty or so boys when April 1st rolls around. With the traces of snow still on the ground, Coach Provinzano will lead the many hopefulets through those first exercises. This year his job will be a little easier with a fine nucleus of returning letter-men at his fingertips. Captain Dan Serieka, Doug Thomson, and Richie Roberts will fill infield spots, while Tony Tofuri and Van French will again roam the outer gardens. Vandy will also be on hand to assume pitching duties, as will Steve Powers, Paul Del Rossi, and Carl Arlanson.

Up from last year's JV team, which won the JV Middlesex League Championship, will be Don McGee and Roger DeMinico sharing catching duties, Paul Myron and Walt Crotty strengthening the moundstaff, Mike Grey and Pete Mahony scrambling for infield spots, and "Slater" Martin rounding out the outfield. Many promising juniors and sophomores will be on the scene to keep the varsity men on their toes.

Softball

"Home run!" At the first hint of warm weather, the familiar crack of the bat will herald the beginning of a promising softball season. With half of the varsity returning, plus a strong group of juniors and sophomores behind it, the '59 squad hopes to fill the shoes of last year's undefeated team. Co-captains Sue Macdonald and Carol Bond, two veteran players, are backed by Elaine Golden on the mound, Marcia Smith behind the plate, and Marie Loftus and Jane Moran in the outfield. Propelled by enthusiasm and fortified by hard practice, this team looks forward to maintaining Winchester's fine reputation in sports.

Golf Team

Fore! That is the cry that will be heard this spring when the divot diggers from Winchester High again take to the links. Coach Leary expects a fine season this year with Co-captains Phil Fox and Lyn Olmstead returning to lead the links-men. The other returning lettermen, Bob Eaton, Roger Griffin, and Joe Logan, are all underclassmen, but they have had the experience and should provide the balance that is needed. Also battling for varsity spots will be four seniors, Jim McKinsey, Terry Mulford, Ronny Gravallese, and "Slater" Martin.

Again this year the squad will take lessons from the pro at the Winchester Country Club where they play all their home matches. With one of the best balanced squads of recent years and a few breaks, Mr. Leary should bring home another team that Winchester can be proud of.

Track Team

At a time when the nation's experts on physical fitness are decrying the softness of American youth, it is encouraging to visit Manchester Field on a warm Spring afternoon to see two score of Winchester High School's most enthusiastic (and perspiring) athletes emulating the ancient Greeks. Calling for strength and skill, but mainly hard training and guts, track is not only a great conditioner but also what Mr. Battino would call a "real builder of character."

The WHS track team is preparing for a big season this year. Coach Battino, beginning his second year as team mentor, has built up a nucleus of fine athletes who ought to place the Sachems at the top of the league.

Running the mile we have Bill Saurman and Don Brown, both good long-distance runners. In the 880, cross-country captain Bob deRivera is expected to lead the field. Other men to watch are Bruce Bonnell in the 440, Tony Bruno in the 220, and John Curtis and Jack Churchill in the 100 yard dash.

In the field events, Captain Bob Thompson is expected to take top honors in the high jump. Putting the shot, state champion Harry Bosselman will be practically uncontested. In the other field events you'll hear from Dave Schumacher throwing the discus, Jack Churchill in the broad jump, and Harry Bosselman and Dana Kelly hurling the javelin.

Riding Club

As a new addition to W.H.S.'s list of extra-curricular activities, the Riding Club was received with astounding enthusiasm. Of the hundred and fifty aspiring equestrians who swamped the first meetings, about forty of the hardier souls remained. This club, under the competent direction of its originator, Miss Pauline Goodrich, has been extremely active—meeting every week at Connor's Riding School in West Medford.

Here the girls have received instruction in the indoor or outdoor ring, and have gone on exciting rides over many trails of the ninety mile network of Fells bridle paths. Several three hour rides have been taken, and a spring horse show has been planned as the grand finale for the first year of a club which promises to draw interested members for many years to come.

Ski Club

Let it snow! The members of the Ski Club will always be ready to take off for a weekend in New Hampshire or just a day at the Country-Club. The activities got into the swing early this year, the first meeting being held in December. Plans for having instructional films on skiing, as well as ski trips, were discussed.

Ted Weir, Mike Armstrong, Marcia Smith, Bob deRivera, and Cynthia Knox were elected to the Executive Council. With their enthusiasm and ideas, and a little cooperation from the weatherman, the club should have a really active season. It is hoped that Charlie Koch will give the Club a talk on the care and use of equipment. Outings at the Country Club, at Prospect Hill, Waltham, and at North Andover, where artificial snow is manufactured, are on the agenda.

The Ski Club is under the faculty supervision of Dr. Richard Ulin, who has always helped to promote interest in the sport.

Pyramids, cartwheels, backflips—the versatile tumblettes exhibit smooth group agility and skill. Spinning hoola-hoops caught the eyes of interested spectators during the halves of football games and at the Tech Tourney. Co-captained by Dorothy Chute and Elaine Tonello, who developed a new routine every week, the "tumbling ten" succeeded in presenting many varied and memorable programs.

Gym Team

Under the able direction of Coach Battino, this year's boys' gym team has shown great skill in their exhibitions. Headed by Captain Chris King, the team showed strength, co-ordination, flexibility, and ability—their main goals. They have competed in many successful matches in and out of WHS. In recognition of their achievements this year, members of the team will receive gymnastic emblems.
